

Andwise for programs

A free, browser-only reference for physicians on contracts, loans and residency. Prepared for a GME office, residency program, medical school or specialty society to forward to a compliance reviewer.

What the site is

Andwise is a free reference for physicians in training and early practice: a contract checker that parses a PDF on the device, loan and offer comparisons, and state-by-state non-compete and residency references. No accounts, no membership, no advertising, nothing to install.

What leaves a trainee's device? Nothing.

The tools run in the browser; the contract checker opens a PDF locally and never transmits the file or its text. The Content-Security-Policy restricts network requests to the site itself (connect-src 'self'), so the browser blocks sending data elsewhere, and a few inputs are remembered only in the device's local storage.

What is sold to the trainee? Nothing.

Every tool is free. The site takes no money from lenders, insurers, advisors, recruiters or employers, and has no affiliate or referral deals, no sponsored content and no advertising.

What legal or financial conclusion is made? None.

The tools report what a document or rule says, quote the source, and ask questions for an attorney. They do not judge enforceability or recommend a plan; nothing on the site is legal, tax or financial advice.

Data and maintenance

The 8 open datasets are published under CC BY 4.0, each entry carrying its source and the date it was last checked, as JSON and CSV, with embeddable charts, llms.txt and a read-only MCP server. Cited sources are fetched weekly and compared with the text last acknowledged by a person; nothing edits the data automatically.

Attorney review

Attorney review: pending. The legal-review scope memo and worksheet are in docs/legal-review/.
